Taking the UK city of Bristol as a case study, this chapter focuses on the concept of resilience in neoliberal governance and the emergence of so-called "resilient subjectivities". Drawing on insights from assemblage theory, we argue that resilient subjectivities are not stable and durable. Rather, they are processual, mutable and dynamic "ever shifting" such that any individual or group might at certain times be more or less resilient than at others. New Living Translation Their responsibility is to equip God's people to do his work and build up the church, the body of Christ. English Standard Version to equip the saints for the work of ministry, for building up the body of Christ, Berean Study Bible to equip the saints for works of ministry and to build up the body of Christ, Berean Literal Bible toward the perfecting of the saints for the work of ministry, for the building up of the body of Christ, King James Bible For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ Acts 9:31 Then had the churches rest throughout all Judaea and Galilee and Samaria, and were edified; and walking in the fear of the Lord, and in the comfort of the Holy Ghost, were multiplied.
