Environmental Policy Statement: An environmental policy statement should be written to communicate both internally and externally. Policy statements should be communicated through Employee manuals, at the back of the house, on the website, in guest information packs, etc. A well written policy statement needs to express the following: 1. Environmental goals that the facility will undertake (for example, committing to reduce 20% of waste by X year). 2. The way in which the organization aims to treat the people it employs (for example, through upholding equal opportunities and other fundament
