Eliot engages with several themes in "The Love Song of J. Alfred Prufrock." These themes include anxiety, desire, and disappointment. The speaker's interior life, hidden from the rest of the world, is alive for the reader. There, readers can understand the speaker's hope and desire for a romantic connection and his struggle to act on that desire. There are several interesting similes in "The Love Song of J. Alfred Prufrock" that help create memorable images. For example, "But as if a magic lantern threw the nerves in patterns on a screen" and "Streets that follow like a tedious argument / Of insidious intent." Personification can also be found in this piece. The Waste Land and Other Poems: Including The Love Song of J. Alfred Prufrock Mass Market Paperback " February 1, 1998. by T. S. Eliot (Author).
